Will Seek Information on Fund Collections, High- way Contracts

Springfield, Ill., May 9—(AP)—Campaign fund collecting activities of the late F. Lynden Smith, one-time patronage overseer of Governor Homer's Democratic administration, became the target of the house "economy" committee's widening investigation today.

Subpoenas were issued by the Republican-controlled committee directing Attorney General John E. Cassidy and Chief Highway Engineer Ernest Lieberman to appear next week with records of Smith's transactions with road contractors.

Committee Chairman Clinton Searle of Rock Island charged "financial scandals" were under investigation and called for a "little black book" of campaign secrets which was the subject of speculation when the public works director was found dead in a hospital bathtub two months ago today.

Declining to say on what he based his information, Representative Searle in the subpoena directed Cassidy to appear before

Four of Norwegian Army's Divisions Out of Action, Koht Says

Paris, May 9—(AP)—More than four Norwegian divisions were put out of action in the campaign against Germany, Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht of Norway told newspapermen today.

Dr. Koht said Norway had six divisions at the beginning of hostilities.

(The strength of the Norwegian army at the time of the German invasion April 9 was put at 75,000 men.)

He said the sixth division, intact still is fighting around the Arctic port of Narvik, while what is left of the fifth division is fighting its way north from German-occupied central Norway.

"The others," he said, "have been killed, wounded, taken prisoner or interned in Sweden."

The foreign minister said the French and British government had expressed "the wish" of renewed help to Norway by "reinforcing to the maximum allied troops" in Scandinavia.

Two Convicted Rum- Runners Sentenced

St. Louis, May 9—(AP)—Virgil Atwood and Harlan Rigby, both of Oklahoma City, were fined and sentenced to jail terms by United States district Judge Charles B. Davis today following their conviction by a jury yesterday of attempting to run liquor into Oklahoma, a dry state.

Atwood was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $500. Rigby was given six months and fined $250. They offered no defense.

The defendants were arrested Oct. 27 after St. Louis county officers had found 156 gallons of whisky and gin in their automobile following a minor accident.

Evidence showed the liquor had been bought from an Alton, Ill., distributor.

Export Subsidy Program on U. S. Corn Inaugurated

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—The agriculture department announced today the inauguration of an export subsidy program for corn, designed to reduce record surpluses.

The department asked export grain traders to submit offers under which grain would be shipped to Canadian and European markets.

Officials indicated deals were now under consideration involving the sale of between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 bushels.

The corn probably will be taken from stocks the government has acquired under grower loan programs. The government would sell the corn to exporters at prices which would enable them to meet competitive prices in foreign markets.

American corn is quoted at about 25 cents a bushel above Argentine grain in European markets, due principally to the price-supporting effects of the government corn loan program.

Under the plan, the agriculture department would pay a subsidy on exports which would enable exporters to pay the higher domestic price and sell abroad in competition with Argentine and other grain. Similar programs have been operated to help sell cotton and wheat abroad.

Officials said that an export subsidy program will help relieve the surplus situation and possibly make it unnecessary to hold a marketing situation and possible marketing quota referendum, which would be the first of its kind for this crop.

PRICES RALLY

Chicago, May 9.—(AP)—Extension of the government's grain export subsidy program to include corn, of which the United States has the largest surplus on record, produced a rally in corn prices here today that established new highs for almost three years.

After an advance of almost 2 cents yesterday due to reports that the subsidy program was under consideration, the market developed a reactionary tone early today but then rallied about a cent after announcement of inauguration of the plan. July corn sold around 68 cents compared with about 52 a year ago. Corn was quoted at 45 cents the day before.

Job Goes Begging

Hollywood, May 9—(AP)—A good movie job is going begging.

Twentieth Century-Fox wants someone to play the role of Adolf Hitler in "I Married a Nazi". It's an excellent speaking role.

Jack Cooper, former Senate comedian, declined today to even take a test. He is a British subject.

"If it was a caricature of Hitler I might consider it," he said.

Several others also have declined.

Contractors Start Suit to Compel Refund of $117,900 in Sales Taxes

Springfield, Ill., May 9—(AP)—An attempt to compel the state to refund $117,900 in sales taxes was initiated late yesterday when 49 contractors filed suit for a mandamus in Sangamon county circuit court naming three state officers as defendants.

The defendants were Finance Director S. L. Nudelman, Treasurer Louie E. Lewis and Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

No date has been set yet for a hearing.

EFFORTS TO SAVE C. A. A. IN SENATE GOES OVER A DAY

Foes of Presidential Transfer Decree Agree to Wait

Washington, May 9—(AP)—Budget Director Harold D. Smith declared today that merger of the Civil Aeronautics Authority into the commerce department, as proposed in President Roosevelt's contested fourth reorganization plan, would eliminate existing "functional confusion" in the CAA.

Testifying before the Senate reorganization committee, Smith said that the shift would "continue the independence of the regulatory and accident investigation functions" now carried on by the CAA board and the air safety board.

The reorganization plan, already disapproved by the House, would abolish the air safety board and lodge its functions in the five member civil Aeronautics board. Smith declared that work of the safety board, the Aeronautics board and the CAA administrator now overlaps, resulting in confusion.

The safety board, he said, "Can make only a limited contribution to air safety" as it now stands. Moreover, he argued, transfer of its duties to the civil Aeronautics board involved a guarantee that the board would make "independent investigations of aircraft accidents."

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) dropped his efforts to obtain immediate Senate disapproval of the reorganization plan and agreed to wait until after the reorganization committee completes hearings tomorrow.

Silver Debate Continues

The silver debate continued on the Senate floor where Senator King (D-Utah) charged that the Townsend bill to end foreign silver purchases was aimed at the final overthrow of silver as money.

The Utahn said he hoped the Senate would adopt his amendment to the bill which would authorize the government to put gold into circulation and said the United States should continue with bimetal monetary standard.

A House appropriation subcommittee was reported meanwhile to have approved Roosevelt's request for authority to spend $975,000,000 for WPA in the eight months starting July 1.

The House disapproved the reorganization plan yesterday, 232 to 153, and Senate rejection would kill it. Senator McCarran, leading the fight against the President's proposal, served notice that he would move for its immediate Senate consideration.

Democratic Leader Barkley and Senator Byrnes (D-Sc.), working against McCarran, argued that the Senate reorganization committee should be permitted to complete

James A. Wall of Oregon Killed in Train-Auto Crash

James A. Wall, 26, of Oregon, was killed and three passengers in his automobile were injured critically at about 9:45 o'clock Wednesday night in a collision with a train on the LaSalle & Bureau Co. railroad at a crossing on U. S. route 51, two miles north of Peru. The railroad is a transfer line operating between a zinc plant in LaSalle and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad at Ladd.

The injured were John E. Riggs, 18, Rockford; Leander Wall, 21, Galesburg; and Harold Parkinson, 40, Elgin. They and Wall were employees of the Rockford Fuel & Lumber Company, and were en route from Rockford to Dwight.

The driver's body was pinned so tightly behind the steering wheel of his car that bars had to be used to extricate him from the demolished automobile.

President of Bankers Association Attacks Jones-Wheeler Bill

Pinehurst, N. C., May 9—(AP)—President Robert M. Hanes of the American Bankers Association said today that the Jones-Wheeler farm credit bill, advocated by Agriculture Secretary Wallace, would destroy federal land banks, eliminate the "existing cooperative agricultural credit system" and place the farmer "at the mercy of a single bureaucratic credit agency."

Wallace's criticism of bankers who testified against the measure, Hanes said, apparently was motivated by "political aspirations" and "the real issues cannot be obscured by the cheap political trick of calling names or impugning motives."

Hanes' speech was prepared for delivery before the North Carolina Bankers Association.

Better Story

Miles City, Mont., May 9—(AP)—A reporter who visited the county hospital to talk to Oscar E. Moyer, 81, about his new-born nephew in Omaha came away with a better story.

Moyer's 13-year-old half brother. The retired farmer explained the difference between his age and that of Bud Moyer of Omaha this way:

"My father, John H. Moyer, a native of Crawford county, Wis., was married four times. My mother was his first wife, and Bud is a son of father's fourth wife."

"Father was 97 years old when Bud was born."

Moyer's new-born nephew is a son of Mrs. Dorothy Jorgenson, 20, Bud's sister.

Adam Bloch, Clerk of State Supreme Court Dies Today

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Adam F. Bloch of Chicago, clerk of the Illinois Supreme court, died suddenly today of a heart attack in his office. He was 56 years old. Bloch complained of feeling ill when he reached his desk in the Supreme court building this morning. He was stricken soon afterward and died within 15 minutes before the arrival of a physician. Associates said he had complained of not feeling well for several days.

Serving his second term as court clerk, Bloch was re-elected in 1938 as a member of the Democratic ticket supported by Governor Horner.

Before he entered politics Bloch taught school for three years in Winnipeg, Canada, and later was editor, for 20 years, of a Polish language newspaper in Chicago. He resigned the editorship in 1930 to become chief clerk in the office of the Cook county Recorder of Deeds.

He was elected Supreme court clerk for his first six-year term in 1932. He leaves his widow, Stella, and two sons, Henry, a student in the University of Illinois College of Dentistry in Chicago, and Darrell, a student at the Morgan Park Military Academy.

Governor Horner said in a statement:

"A public servant of highest type has been taken from Illinois in the death of Adam F. Bloch. His conduct of positions of high responsibility was at all times marked by courtesy, efficiency and integrity. His unusual talents, his steady diligence and his fine gift for making friends all were factors in his deserved prominence. His career constitutes an important contribution to public affairs."

"I am sincerely sorry to hear of his sudden passing. Our state can ill afford to lose a man like Adam F. Bloch."

REPUBLICANS TO PICK BERVE FOR STATE CHAIRMAN

Rochelle Man Slated to Be Elected by G. O. P. Committee Today

Springfield, Ill., May 9—Ben L. Berve of Rochelle was this afternoon unanimously elected chairman of the Republican state central committee.

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Illinois Republican leaders drew up plans for their state convention and the fall election campaign today in conferences which slated Ben L. Berve of Rochelle for GOP state chairman to succeed A. K. Stiles of Sycamore.

Berve, backed by the forces of Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, was scheduled for election this afternoon in the organization meeting of the GOP state central committee. The Green leaders predicted he would be unopposed.

Now serving his second term on the committee, Berve, 51, is an insurance broker and formerly was a United States Marshal in the Northern Illinois district.

The Democratic state committee organized late yesterday by electing a Chicago member, 39-year-old Arthur A. Sullivan, as chairman and adopting a resolution "insisting" that President Roosevelt be a third term candidate. Sullivan was the candidate of the Kelly-Nash Cook county organization bloc and was unopposed to succeed Harry B. Hershey, Democratic nominee for governor.

C. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for U. S. Senator; National Committeeman Hill Blackett; Green and other state candidates were among the GOP chieftains here for conferences in connection with the Republican committee organization.

Out of the conferences came predictions of a slate of state committee officers that would include John F. Tyrell of Chicago as vice-chairman and Clement A. Nance, Chicago, for secretary-treasurer.

Convention June 14
One question still unsettled was whether the Republicans would shift their June 7 state convention date because of a conflict over the leasing of the state armory here for that day.

Berve said party leaders had decided to shift the convention to June 14 if the use of the armory could be obtained for that date.

The Democratic committee failed to choose a convention date, leaving the selection to Chairman Sullivan who said it probably would be held about June 15.

The Roosevelt third term resolution, adopted unanimously, said "We note with pleasure and heartiest approval the tremendous vote given President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the primary on April 9 and we insist that he be a candidate."

Another resolution recommended

Need of Repairs at Lee Co. Court House Stressed

Some members of the board of supervisors at the May meeting deplored the condition of the court house property and urged the entire body to consider the county property as they would their own homes with respect to repairs and general upkeep. Supervisor Leon Hart of Palmyra presented the subject at the afternoon session yesterday and was supported by Supervisor D. H. Spencer of Dixon.

Supervisor Hart explained that about two years ago some decorating had been done in the building and the Circuit court room refurnished, but he contended that the property should be kept in the best condition possible and not be permitted to deteriorate until repairs were actually necessary. By continued maintenance, he stated, the cost of repairs would be greatly reduced.

The building committee was instructed to ascertain the amount available in the county treasury for use in repairing and redecorating the court house, and present a report at the June meeting of the board. The same committee was also empowered to proceed with improvements at the county jail property which were requested by Sheriff Gilbert Finch and recommended by the April grand jury.

The judiciary committee reported granting three blind pensions to Lydia E. Stultz and Caroline Winden of Dixon and Etta Stillwell of Franklin Grove.

She cabled her plea to King George of England, King Haakon of Norway, Premier Paul Reynaud of France and Feodor Adolff Hitler last night.

"It seems to me," Miss Jarvis said, "that Hitler, since he has asked German mothers to have big families and since his own mother is dead, might be the first man to honor such a sentiment."

Chamberlain to Stick to Post Despite Close Vote Given by Commons

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

British Premier Chamberlain's intimation this morning that he doesn't intend to resign, despite the shellacking parliament gave him during the past two days for his conduct of the war, was to be expected.

The prime minister still is one of the fightingest of a fighting family of statesmen, although he has passed the mark of three score years and ten.

He has made it quite clear that his burning ambition is to finish the war as chief of government.

His tenure of office has been rendered insecure, however, by the warning which the House of Commons, including some of his own followers, wrote on the wall last night in their vote of censure. His main hope would seem to be in the revamping of his cabinet, and an effort to create a coalition government which would include representatives of the large Labor party and the Liberals.

One thing is certain—that it will take a deal of persuasion to get the opposition to participate

Congressman Shouts, Fellow Member Hears First Time in Years

Washington, May 9—(AP)—Rep. John Taber of New York was shouting into a house microphone recently during debate on amending the wage-hour law.

Back in the audience sat Rep. Leonard Schuetz of Illinois, stone deaf in his left ear and able to hear only "very flat" sounds in his right ear. Then suddenly it seemed to Schuetz that something had cleared away inside his head.

"I felt dizzy for a moment," he said today, "and then I heard sounds I'd never heard before. It's wonderful."

Schuetz, who was born in 1887 had had poor hearing all his life. Members of the house who are also physicians, told him, Schuetz said, that undoubtedly there had been some obstruction in the inner left ear since childhood and that the proper vibrations, set up by Taber's voice in the amplifier, had removed it.

Illinois Peach Crop Less Than 10 Per Cent

Springfield, Ill., May 9—(AP)—A skeleton peach crop "less than ten per cent" as large as last year's 2,057,000 bushels was predicted for Illinois this year by J. H. Lloyd state agriculture director.

Lloyd said cold January and February weather had caused the depleted prospect for peaches and asserted that many southern Illinois fruit growers already were turning their attention to vegetable crops, mainly tomatoes, to offset the peach losses.

Apple prospects however, Lloyd said, were "excellent".

The Illinois peach crop last year was valued at $1,851,000 by the Federal and state departments of agriculture.

More Men Called Up

King George issued a proclamation making more than 2,500,000 more men subject to military service, bringing nineteen year olds and men from 27 to 36 into categories for call to the colors.

Germany reported a 7,000 ton allied troop transport had been sunk by nazi bombing planes near Narvik, the far northern region which is the allies' last foothold in Norway, and said the airforce was effective in helping battle allied troops which are besieging a force of between 3,000 and 4,000 Germans at Narvik.

By way of Stockholm came reports that German planes had landed parachute troops behind the allied siege lines at Narvik.

With most of Norway in German hands and the western front still stalemated, close attention was paid to the Mediterranean and southeast Europe as possible theaters for new warfare, a picture in which Italy and Russia occupy potent roles.

Premier Mussolini, in a speech rare since the war started, told his fascists that "only facts" would break his self-imposed silence on the European conflict, apparently indicating Italy plans no immediate change in her status as a non-belligerent.

Russian-allied co-operation in the Balkans seemed a possibility as parallel steps developed for protection of Yugoslavia which adjoins both Germany and Italy.

The Yugoslavs were turning toward Russia, the "Mother of Slavs," for protection while the allies were reported to be offering the same thing.

A major development of yesterday's Commons debate was the admission by Churchill that Germany's numerical superiority in the air had been one of the prime

Fervid Irony

Berlin, May 9—(AP)—The reaction in official German quarters to yesterday's scenes in the British parliament may be summed up in the words of one authorized source:

"May God give long life to Neville Chamberlain as Britain's prime minister."

A long as Chamberlain is at the helm of the British government, this source added, Germany has nothing to fear.

One source said David Lloyd George's criticism of the British government's dependence in the allied war aims was described as worth just as little as her concern over Poland and Norway.

of bitter criticism which saw mark of his Conservative party members lined up against him.

That Chamberlain did not intend to resign—now, at least—was indicated when he announced today that he would be willing for further debate on the conduct of the war two weeks hence "if events should make it desirable."

Some quarters insisted, however, that Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax or Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, might be commissioned to form a new government pledged to more vigorous prosecution of the war.

Associated Press News Writer Tells of Flight of British from Norway

Recalls Details De- spite Seizure of His Diary

Associated Press
(Editor's Note: J. Norman Lodge, veteran Associated Press newsmen, reached England Tuesday after seeing action on two fronts in Norway and experiencing German air attacks to get a first-hand account of the war there. Early in the campaign he crossed the Swedish border and trekked through the deep snow of northern Norway to get the first eye-witness account of the British action around Narvik, Norway's Arctic iron ore port. Later he reached the Vannas front at the height of the fighting there—German warplanes machine-gunned his automobile—and when the allies withdrew he accepted a British invitation to go along. They landed him in Britain.)

By J. NORMAN LODGE
London, May 8—(AP)—The censor has my diary for the time being, but I won't need it to remember the events of the past two weeks.

I landed yesterday at a northern British port with an allied expeditionary force from Namsos, Norway, which reached home intact despite an attack by 39 German planes which sank three allied destroyers—the British Afrida, the French Bison and the Polish Grom.

A "good deed" got me into my first trouble.

On my way to Namsos from Formofoss, near the Swedish front—

No German planes were in sight.

But peace was not for us.

Just after a breakfastless early-morning departure, the first Heinkels appeared and the cannonading began. Bombs dropped all around the convoy ships, especially ours which was the flagship.

One bomb—apparently a 500-pounder—fell less than 50 yards astern—so close its splash fell on the afterdeck.

Not content with that miss, three more Heinkels dropped a series of chaplet bombs—small incendiary missiles—which formed a perfect spray framing the ships.

Fire from accompanying ships fell on either side of us and it seemed as though they might spray our decks with falling shot. The troops were ordered inside and the doors battened.

cover as we could but still be on I and the American cameramen—Fox—Movietone's Arthur Menken—remained as much under cover as we could but still be on deck, they grinding out a pictorial history while I made notes—of which I was relieved promptly by the Admiralty when I arrived in Britain.

The bombings continued. We were paid 39 visits in all with from 15 to 20 bombs on each visit.

Our ship alone fired more than 100 three-inch shells and several thousand rounds of machine-gun bullets.

Seemingly from nowhere a dive bomber laid a perfect shot on the Bison. British cruisers and destroyers removed the survivors.

Returning again and again, German Junkers and Heinkels finally singled out the Afridi. Disabled and lagging, she sank, too.

As night fell, the attacks ceased and only once the next day did we see a plane. It promptly retreated when anti-aircraft shells framed it.

During the first day's fighting, one Heinkel was struck behind the cockpit and dived into the ocean. As a destroyer sped over to rescue the crew, the plane's nose turned down and the last seen of it was its tail with the Nazi cross and black-and-red striping.

Men and officers bunked where they could, mostly in corridors of what were dining rooms when the ship was in passenger service, and in the crew's quarters without water and with little rations.

The French crew, which had been away from its home port for three months, carried on almost without sleep for the entire trip of five days. They were unconvinced fellows but the most seafaring sailors afloat.

Everything mysteriously disappeared, by pukka from Finland—a hunting knife—and the Tommies' regimental insignia.

From the third day out the trip became a pleasure cruise—for the returning troops, that is, but not for us Americans who still were in "protective custody."

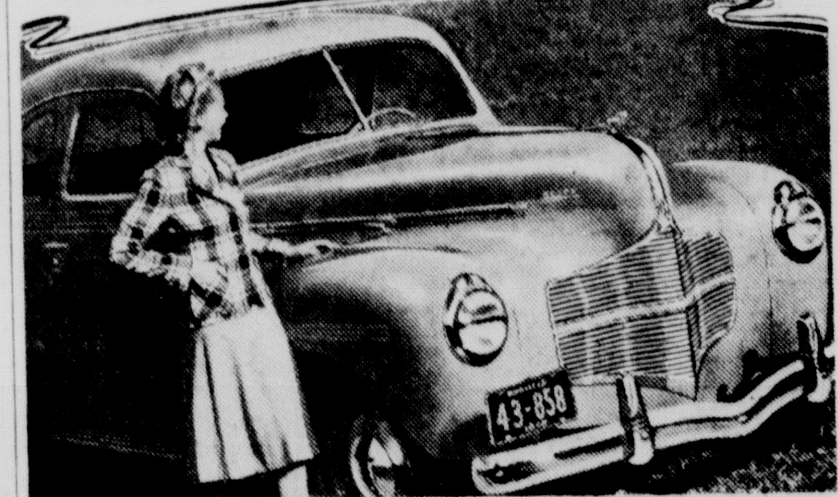

Nearing a secret northern military zone, a French naval officer herded us together and explained we were entering a secret area and must go below.

We did—into a small detention room where we were kept without food or water for 24 hours, apparently forgotten.

Finally, Captain "K", who had been our custodian, learned of our fate and personally brought us hardtack and red wine. He tried to get us turned back to the British but without success.

However, the troops transferred to a British ship and when we sailed from the prohibited area—of which maps are readily obtainable in Fleet street—we were taken to the wardroom mess, wined, dined with provisions brought aboard that night, apologized to at every turn and treated like ranking diplomats.

While we were home to in the "prohibited area" last Monday, services for the dead of the Bison and Afridi were held aboard the flagship.

As a slight breeze flickered the candles on the altar, Abbe Parquin, spiritual adviser of the French sailors, chanted a requiem mass and sprinkled water on the sea for those whose last resting place was beneath the waves.

Earlier, protestant services were held aboard the British cruiser York.

The sound of the low chant of the service could be heard in our detention room, and, through a minute crack in our battened porthole, we could see the flickering candles.

For the next 36 hours we had the run of the ship, hammocks for sleeping and plenty of food.

Arriving at a northern British port, however, trouble appeared again in the form of entry officers. Landing permission readily was given. But how do you do it?

The French, who had refused to turn us over to the British, insisted now that the British should send a gig for us. The British insisted the French were our custodians. We fumed and waited.

Finally, after waiting offshore in sight of the first green grass we had beheld in many months, we were taken ashore, turned loose and promised a dinner in London by the headquarters major who originally had prevented our return to Formofoss.

Throughout the entire shot-ridden trip, both in the Namsos area and at sea, the troops and officers conducted according to the truest traditions of their countries.

The French first officer who conveyed the expedition from Namsos evidently was contrite over our treatment and told the whole story of the allies' entry and withdrawal without skis or ability to run on them and their opposition by skiing Germans from the Alps who were perfectly at home on runners.

The British, sinking knee-deep in melting snow, were fortunate that their casualties during their short stay on the Steinkjer front were kept so small, he said.

Notice to Ladies of Dixon and other Cities

At last your prayer has been answered. We have the vacuum now that has eliminated the filthy and unsanitary bag. Now you handle no dirt and you see no dirt. Do not be deceived by anybody saying they mean this cleaner as our bag is encased in this cylinder for that is not true as our cleaner, known as FILTER QUEEN, has no bag at all. Remember you handle no dirt you do though clean your home more perfectly than you were able to do. Phone Dixon Y-832 or write Mr. Arthur R. Carnes, 810 E. 3rd St. for a free demonstration.

Stelle Warns Party He and Associates Must Be Reckoned With in Fall

Peoria, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—In the words of Lieut. Gov. John Stelle Democratic administration leaders "must reckon with the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett supporters in the recent primary election" if they expect party harmony during the approaching fall election campaign.

"There will be no making up by the unsuccessful candidates unless recognition includes our friends all over Illinois," Stelle declared yesterday.

Stelle, State Representative Benjamin Adamowski, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett were candidates on a "rebel" slate for governor, U. S. senator and auditor, respectively, in the primary. All were defeated.

"I might add that Barrett, Adamowski and Stelle always will be Democrats," Stelle said. "I sincerely hope none of our workers and those who supported us will ever feel that we will 'sell you down the river' in any agreement between now and November."

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to wall and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

What the Farmer Gets for Milk

Chicago's milk strike, which has gone into the true stage, cost the strikers $50,000 a day in wages, and the farmers lost around $60,000 a day because they couldn't sell their milk. Farmers were not on strike. The strikers were deliverymen and inside dairy workers.

It is impossible to analyze the situation closely because we do not know how many farmers were involved, nor exactly how many dairy workers or deliverymen were involved.

But the evidence is that the milk producers, meaning the farmers, get $60,000 a day for producing the milk, and those who get it ready for delivery, and deliver it, get $50,000 a day in the form of wages. What the dairy operators, meaning the owners, get, we have not been informed. Surely they get more than $10,000 a day. If so, the people who pasturize the milk, bottle it and deliver it, get as much or more than the men who own and milk the cows.

Perhaps that is just. Milk deliveries undoubtedly are costly, what with bottles to buy and replace, trucks to maintain and dairy plants to establish and keep going. Possibly the operators and workers are not getting an exorbitant sum from the consumers. But when the men who own the cows and milk them receive $60,000 a day for their milk, and the workers who handle the milk receive $50,000 a day, something appears to be out of joint.

There is beginning to be a belief that in cities like Chicago and New York it would be profitable to work out ways of reducing the cost of milk deliveries. Already there are experiments in handling milk in multi-quart containers, and there is a move to utilize paper bottles which are used only once, then destroyed.

If the expenses of handling milk could be reduced, the workers might have as much pay, the operators might not have as great overhead costs, and the farmers might receive more for their product, all without increasing the price of milk.

Another Hemisphere Link

Within a month another link in the chain binding the western hemisphere into an economic unit is expected to be forged. The creation of the Inter-American Bank by five countries, Brazil, Colombia, Mexico, Nicaragua, and the United States, is likely to be accomplished soon.

This is a highly important step. It may result in an almost revolutionary change in financial and economic relations between the countries of the Americas.

This undertaking is completely different from the present Import-Export Bank. This is not an undertaking of the United States, but a joint undertaking of the five countries, and perhaps later of others who may join. It will be more like the Bank for International Settlements.

It will be controlled by a board consisting of one member from each participating country. Capital will be subscribed by each in proportion to the dollar value of the foreign trade of each in 1938.

The object is broad—to promote trade between the Americas, to foster good will, to help stabilize currencies, to aid industrial development and monetary equilibrium.

Certain immediate results should follow: (1) It would be the first step on the part of the United States to redistribute its gold and silver among countries with which it seeks to stimulate trade and friendly relations. (2) It would tend to supplant private capital ventures in foreign fields by joint ventures of all American countries, thus minimizing clashes which have always been a source of diplomatic friction (as in the oil cases in Mexico at present). (3) It would tend to make the Americas still more closely interdependent, and thus less dependent on Europe. And all American countries know now that European trade and financial invasions are arms of the new imperialism.

If the American countries can together supply their own capital needs for expansion and industrial and economic progress, so much smaller is the chance of European penetration.

If it be argued that the United States faces a chance of once more holding the bag as the "rich uncle," let it be remembered that leadership in economic affairs is thrust into the hands of "rich nations" whether they like it or not.

It is only a question of whether they are willing to strike out boldly and exercise that leadership, or sit idly by while it crumbles away from them, to fall into the hands of those who will grasp it by pressure and violence for political ends.

A Good Voice and a Hillbilly Band

Soon the United States is going to be in the midst of our quadrennial three-ring political circus—the presidential elections.

For us the teeth will flash, the melodious voice curl itself around the dramatic periods, the fire-cracker phrase will explode, and the babies be thrust forward for the great man's enforced kiss.

Let us, in the great name of democracy, try to keep our heads about all this. Let us shun the glittering generalities as the plague, and let us keep in mind that of all the arts, oratory is the lowest.

"It has come to the point," says Carl D. Friebohn, federal referee in bankruptcy by profession and sage by avocation, that "all anybody needs to get elected is a good voice and a hillbilly band." People who are bemused by that kind of fol-de-rol will get exactly the kind of representation they deserve.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, May 9.—Mr. Roosevelt's rescue of the Hatch somewhat-clean politics bill from the stranglehold of the House judiciary committee may not have surprised you, but it astonished the Democratic authorities in Congress. They had an almost unanimous hunch Roosevelt wanted the bill put to death as quietly as possible because it would interfere with the coming Democratic campaign activity of state jobholders who receive part of their income from the Federal government.

Lost from sight has been the fact that it will hurt Republicans as much as Democrats. Republicans now are in control of many state governments.

Roosevelt told a few congressional authorities who took the trouble to ask him about it his real interest in the measure was to stop the impression that has grown up during the preliminary campaign that the government is coercing voters.

Roosevelt has been opening up on the taboo third term topic with calling congressmen lately. The President does not like to have newspaper men quizzing him about it in his press conferences, but apparently no longer minds frank discussion with his political associates.

Some new presidential slants on the subject have thus reached the inner ear of Democratic congressmen. While no one here is pretending to set forth these views as official presidential utterances, they may nevertheless be related as the accepted congressional understanding of fresh White House viewpoint.

Those who went to the White House urging Roosevelt to run have been met by several objections. The President once indicated he considered his health would be a restraint on his future activities.

When the guest asserted Roosevelt's health was better now than when he was governor of New York Roosevelt smiled and observed that he had taken a lot of punishment since then. Another has come away with the impression that FDR has been moved more than his laughter would indicate by talk about a third term meaning a Rooseveltian form of Democratic dictatorship. Not that he believes there is any justification for the accusation. He calls it a lie. But he concedes a great number of people might nevertheless believe it, thereby involving his future administration in needless public turmoil.

These objections imply the Democratic leader is getting ready to renounce the nomination. This interpretation is further strengthened by those who say he has told them the party has "a lot of good men." They report he has rattled off the names of a half dozen or more, taking care, however, to indicate no preference among them as yet.

Difference between the truth and a lie in Washington these days seems to depend a lot on who says it. When ex-ghost mentor, Professor Moley, recently pummeled the National Economic Committee investigation for listening to only one side of many economic arguments, the SEC, which presented much of the evidence, was outraged. The falsehood was denounced. But when Senator Downey, a friend of the committee, made the same statement in opening his friendly hearing on excessive savings, it was accepted as the truth.

The Downey hearing will be reaching for the headlines for the next few weeks to offset the favorable progress which Republicans are reported to have made with the pension vote. Democrats have been worried lately by this opposition drift of the pensioners.

Roosevelt threw back his head and guffawed when he heard about the flasco in the House over the wages-hour amendments. He said it recalled to him the famous statue of the Laccocoon group in the Vatican depicting Laccocoon and his two sons mired in serpents.

Ten-second interview: Thurman Arnold new deal trust mangle: "In the ethyl case, the Chicago milk case, and the Madison oil case, more has been done by the Supreme court to help the American consumer in a single term than in the previous ten years."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes filter out poisons from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Local—MRS. FREDERICK KEISTER (Contributed)

Ida Luella Page was born June 22, 1853 in South Dixon township Lee county; daughter of Henry and Phoebe Groh-Page. Her early years were spent with her parents in Lee county. After their death she made her home with relatives in Jordan township, Whiteside county.

November 18, 1882 she was united in marriage to Frederick Keister by Rev. W. H. Post. About thirty years of her married life was spent on their farm near Nelson, and for the past ten years she has lived with her sons Jesse and Henry in Dixon.

To this union four children were born. Walter, the oldest died in infancy. Three sons survive as follows: Harry P. of Sterling; Jesse L. and Henry A. at home, Dixon. There are also three step-children: Mrs. Carrie Henning, Plano, Ill., Fred of Pomona, California, and Anna deceased; the following grandchildren: Betty Keister and Mrs. Dorothy Keister-Bollman, and two great grandchildren, Dorothy and Lawrence Bollman. There were two brothers and two sisters of Mrs. Keister who preceded her in death: Henry and Albert Page, Eva Page and Mrs. Alice Missman. It is desired to mention the names of a nephew and niece because of their thoughtfulness and concern of Mrs. Keister, who live in St. Paul, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Page.

Mrs. Keister was a member of the Lutheran church from childhood. Her active Christian life was spent in Zion Lutheran church during the thriving days of that congregation. She was a devoted mother, giving the last years of her life to the special care of her invalid son, Jesse, a World war veteran. Although having reached the age of nearness, 87 years she loved children, her great grandchildren with a heart, the warmth of youth. Friends knew her to love her.

SERIAL STORY

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Pepper Boy's first workout at the Downs shows him in fine condition. Sherry enters him in a Derby prep race, wins Madden to ride, shep Grant wants to ride Pepper Boy, but when Sherry refuses, he buys a horse, enters the race against Sherry. Sherry is angry, but Willie Bond is confident Pepper Boy can win.

CHAPTER XIII

SHERRY awoke with a start next morning. She sat up in bed, blinked her eyes. It was full daylight—must be at least 7 o'clock, and she should have been at the stable by 5.

She must get to the track—without delay. She swung her feet around to blue slippers waiting by the bedside. Then she jumped at the sound of sharp rapping on the door.

"Who's there?" she called, throwing a quitted robe about herself.

"It's Ted—me—!"

"Come right in!"

The school teacher, fully dressed, was cheer itself. "The Major said you must be taking what he calls a nap of sleep—he's gone to the track. And I thought that—well, here, take it, Sherry."

She thrust a sheaf of bills into Sherry's hand. The latter looked at them, with widening eyes. Seven $100 bank notes. The robe dropped from Sherry's shoulders. She stepped forward impulsively, threw her arms around the teacher's angular frame.

"You're a honey—you're a sweetheart—but I can't take it—and I don't need it." She tried to force the money back into Ted's hand.

Ted saw that Sherry meant it. She said: "I'll take it back on one condition—you promise me that if Pepper Boy doesn't win, you will take this loan."

"I promise—that if Pepper Boy doesn't win, I'll take the loan, and give you a piece of Pepper Boy to boot!" Sherry smiled.

SHERRY was the first owner in the paddock that afternoon for the second race—the Derby Trial. It was being called. Not a horse had been scratched; ten fast colts would fight it out, each inch of the mile and 70 yards. She wanted to see that every detail was perfect before her Pepper Boy went to the post.

"You know this colt, Madden—get him off smartly, make no mistakes, and win!"

Madden nodded. He said: "Goin' to be a hoss-race, every foot of the way. That Castanets, the brown 'un, is speedy; and that Monitor—" Madden frowned, "he's the baby to watch. But I don't think so much of that gen'lman steeplechase guy. This here's on the flat."

"That Mr. Grant you speaking of?"

The question was asked by Willie Bond, who had hustled up to the stall. "You'll be glad to hear this," he chuckled to Sherry, "Shep Grant's four pounds overweight. Couldn't pull it down. He rides at 124 pounds—against 120 pounds on the other entries."

"I told him he was a steeplechase rider," Sherry said. "What do you scale at, Madden?"

The little fellow grinned: "Not more'n 104—water and summer. I made exact weight for this by my valet puttin' 16 pounds o' lead in that lead-pad." He indicated a pad beneath Pepper Boy's saddle.

At that moment the bugle blew, calling the field to the post.

"Excuse me, my dear—business to attend to," Willie Bond said, and dashed off toward the grandstand.

"Well, I like that!" Sherry was saying to herself when a familiar voice spoke at her elbow:

"Come on and watch this one with me."

It was Paul Wharton. Sherry had so much on her mind that she forgot to be distant. "Why, Paul—where've you been keeping yourself?" She was really glad to see him.

"Might ask you the same," he smiled. "Been busy—as you've been; but come on—they'll be at the post in a minute."

A roar went up from watching thousands as the field leaped forward in a perfect start.

"Say!" Paul Wharton exclaimed, "look at your colt—he's improved!"

Pepper Boy, breaking from the extreme outside, was shooting ahead—Madden was trying to cut a long diagonal line across the field—trying to get to the rail at the head of the turn.

"But look there!" Wharton shouted again. "That Shep's not bad, is he? Watch him!" Shep Grant was hustling his bay, Monitor, to the front on the rail—he had blocked the fast-moving brown, Castanets, who had tried to take it.

Now, as they reached the first turn, the field was split into two divisions. Three horses in the first group: Shep Grant with Monitor on the rail; Farwell on Castanets next to him; and Madden running alongside on Pepper Boy. Seven horses were grouped behind.

"Too bad Madden couldn't get the rail. He's dropping back," So he was.

"The horse is in stride—Madden's giving him a breather," Sherry said.

"Maybe," Wharton muttered. "But I don't like the way Grant is taking that nag of his to the front—Boy!—He's a length ahead as they start down the back stretch."

"He's burning his colt up," said Sherry—and she hoped it was true.

"Maybe," Wharton muttered again. "I'm not crazy about Grant—you know it; but just the same he's a darn good judge of pace."

"He's four pounds overweight," Sherry said, as she noted that Pepper Boy was third—and running easily—at the half-mile.

"Is he?" Wharton looked at her a minute. "Then he's got an advantage over all the rest of you."

"How so?"

"All the other jockeys are very light boys—and their saddle-pads are filled with lead. That's dead weight—and mighty heavy. Shep is all live weight."

"What of it?" she snapped. "There's Madden going into contention—now."

THE boy was starting his run with Pepper Boy. He lifted his reins at the three-eighths pole, as they went into the far turn.

Sherry knew he was clucking to Pepper Boy—he saw her game little colt spring forward—Madden was shooting into a space between Castanets and the rail Pepper Boy got the rail—was alongside Castanets—was drawing away from a space between Monitor and the rail, ahead.

"Not this time!" Wharton whistled. "Madden almost got in that opening—but Shep has an eye in the back of his head. See, he's drawn close to the rail himself."

So he had. But Madden was taking Pepper Boy out—now they were straightening down the home stretch: Monitor in front by a length; Pepper Boy second—and the brown, Castanets, coming up fast on Pepper Boy's flanks. Behind them thundered seven other horses—vainly trying to catch up.

"Now he's coming—in the last furlong!" Sherry yelled. Madden had lashed out with his bat, Pepper Boy leaped forward. His nose was now at Monitor's neck; but Castanets surged forward on the outside—even with Pepper Boy.

The three colts—so close together—that a handkerchief could have almost covered them—swept down to the wire together. Now they were head and head, nose and nose—

They flashed under the wire.

- 2 cups dates, pitted and cut
- ¼ cup nuts, cut

Blend Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar, gradually and cream well. (Quickly done with Spry. It mixes like magic.) Add eggs and mix well. Sift flour with soda and add to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing thoroughly. Add dates and nuts and blend.

Drop from teaspoon on baking sheets greased with Spry. Let stand a few minutes, then flatten cookies by stamping with a glass covered with a damp cloth. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 6 dozen, deliciously tender and tasty. Make all your cookies with purer Spry—your cakes and pastry, too. (All measurements in this recipe are level.)

Two Towers of Strength in Troubled Mediterranean

The so far impregnable Rock of Gibraltar—guardian of the Mediterranean Sea's western gate and of Britain's life-line to her eastern dominions. The great fortress-mountain is seen from the deck of the British aircraft carrier "Courageous."

Italy's tower of strength in the eastern Mediterranean—the island of Rhodes, heavily fortified naval base guarding the entrance to the Aegean Sea. Rhodes is largest of Dodecanese Islands, off Turkey, where Italy is making tremendous concentrations of ships and troops.

Hallahan of East St. Louis, state director of registration and education in Governor Horner's cabinet, was elected first vice-chairman of the committee. Sherwood Dixon of Dixon and John Small, Harrisburg, were other vice-chairmen named unanimously while committee secretary Joseph E. Knight of Dow and Secretary Ludwig D. Schreiber, Chicago city clerk, both were re-elected.

Milton Forsyth of Mt. Vernon, a new committee member, was elected assistant secretary. Chairman Sullivan announced the reappointment of Blanche Fritz Bridgeport, as Democratic state chairman. Ray D. Stout, Springfield district committeeman and deputy state primary campaign manager for the Stelle-Barrett-Adamowski ticket, failed to attend the meeting.

Republicans to—

The discussions among Republican leaders last night and today went beyond organization of the state committee. They covered state convention arrangements and linked the names of Rep. J. Branson of Centuria, house majority leader, and state committeeman Frank G. Thompson of Mt. Vernon with the selection of a convention chairman. Senator Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, GOP floor leader in the upper house, was mentioned for chairman of the convention's platform committee.

Tentative plans were announced for a party rally August 3 in Peoria with the GOP nominee for president to be invited to open the fall campaign in the state. The gathering is being sponsored by the recently organized Republican Association of Illinois headed by Lyman E. Smith of Pleasant Plains.

Weekly Food and Marketing

Letter by Mrs. George Thurn for Dixon Telegraph Readers

Come to the top of the list in spring tonic—delicacies—rhubarb, a valuable food that can add sparkle to meals even though it is more humble than last week's subject, asparagus.

Crisp, tart and tasty, rhubarb is amply supplied with nature's own toning-up qualities—those natural medicines that everyone needs in the spring of the year. Authorities point out that raw rhubarb is a fair source of calcium, contains some phosphorus, is a fair source of iron, is fairly supplied with vitamin A, is a good source of vitamin C, and has a fair value as a source of bulk in the diet.

Important to the user is the fact that rhubarb values remain approximately the same even when the fruit (or vegetable, as many term it) is cooked.

Asia and eastern Europe are the native lands of the rhubarb, which also is known as wine-plant, or pie-plant. The name pie-plant has been taken too literally, for in many homes this food is restricted to occasional use for pie and sauce at this season. Actually it is far more versatile than the average homemaker realizes.

Rhubarb fits into several marmalades and preserves; it is delicious in open-faced pies, with a latticed top, or whipped cream; in a two-crust pie, combined with apples; in tarts; as baked sauce or pudding; in fruit punch; short-cake; baked with bananas, and in many combinations with other fruits.

Orange and lemon are natural allies of rhubarb in preserves and in desserts. Grated lemon rind adds interest to rhubarb sauce, and a grating of nutmeg. Another discovery is the combination of tapioca and rhubarb, and rhubarb with custard sauce.

Often the rhubarb is cooked directly in tapioca and water, with sugar added when tender. Or the tapioca can be cooked separately and poured over the rhubarb arranged in a buttered baking utensil, and the mixture is baked for one-half hour in a moderate oven. Serve with sugar and cream, or with custard sauce. Grated lemon rind is the flavoring.

When fresh apples are not available, use your favorite recipe for Rhubarb Betty, flavoring with cinnamon or nutmeg. And do not stint on butter.

A favorite, old-time recipe has the playful name "Rhubarb Fool", and directs that one quart of rhubarb be stewed, sweetened and rubbed through a sieve. Reheat slowly and stir for ten minutes. When cold, stir in either three-fourths of a pint of custard, or one-half pint cream. Beat all together and serve chilled.

Dieticians agree that rhubarb should not be overcooked, since the vitamin C content thus may be impaired. If not totally destroyed, use as little water as possible, since rhubarb is naturally juicy.

The second caution in rhubarb preparation is a point on which many expert cooks may go wrong. Because rhubarb is so tart, it often is diced directly into a boiling sugar syrup, or the sugar is added early in the stewing process. Sugar should not be added until the plant reaches the tender stage in cooking, which should be just before the sauce is removed from the fire. Then let the sauce come to the boiling point and remove it from the fire at once.

This method yields a deliciously sweet and delicately flavored sauce, and at the same time economizes on sugar. Homemakers who have been complaining that rhubarb sauce is an expensive luxury will find that this quick-cooking method in very little water, with sugar added last, actually produces a better, cheaper sauce.

Some rhubarb enthusiasts eat raw rhubarb, skinned and salted, as a between-meal snack. The early rhubarb usually has a very tender skin, which can be washed and cooked without peeling. The skin gets slightly tougher as the season progresses, so that the rhubarb must be peeled.

Strangely enough, some people balk at rhubarb in the belief that it is acid-forming. Authorities brand this as nonsense and declare it a long-since disproved theory. The leaves of this plant do contain a certain amount of oxalic acid and should not be used, but few meal planners ever would make the mistake of using rhubarb leaves.

Try rhubarb with fish menus! Serve it the next time you serve fish for a new taste combination that is appetizing, unusual and healthful.

SPRING TREATS
Strawberry Cream Tart

One-pint strawberries, one-half cup sugar, cooked cream filling, whipped cream, one pastry shell.

Spread the cooled cream filling in the pie crust shell; cover with the strawberries, sliced and mixed with the sugar; top with the whipped cream which should be sweetened and garnish with whole strawberries.

Cooked Cream Filling: One cup milk, six tablespoons sugar, few grains salt, four tablespoons flour, one-fourth teaspoon vanilla or other flavoring.

Scald three-fourths cup of the milk, and thicken with the flour, mixed to a smooth paste in the extra milk. Beat together with the sugar, egg and salt; add to the milk and thickening. Cook over hot water for fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Cool before adding flavoring.

Shrimp-Pineapple Salad
One and one-half cups canned or fresh shrimp, one cup canned or fresh pineapple, diced; one-eighth teaspoon paprika, two sprigs chives, chopped; six tablespoons French dressing, one-half teaspoon salt, Romaine, lettuce hearts or watercress. (Serves six.)

Combine shrimp, pineapple, salt, paprika and chives. Chill well and add French dressing just before serving. Toss until well mixed and arrange on crisp greens.

Baked Rhubarb
In a buttered baking utensil, place a layer of rhubarb, sprinkle with sugar and alternate layers until pan is full. Sprinkle sugar over top, add small pieces of butter and grated lemon rind or cinnamon. Bake slowly until tender, keeping the oven from 250 to 300 degrees.

Baked Rhubarb No. 2. This method is slightly different, and is most successful when the first tender stalks of the rhubarb are used. Mix one and one-half cups sugar with one quart of diced rhubarb and let stand thirty minutes. Place in a covered baking utensil and bake in a slow oven 275 degrees, for one hour, or until the fruit is tender and pink. A grating of lemon, or a bit of juice may be added if desired, but the coloring is most attractive when only rhubarb and sugar are used.

Bunnies in Clover
Cut unpeeled red apples in three-fourths inch slices. Sprinkle each slice with sugar, dot with butter, and broil slowly under low heat until tender. Broil or pan-fry pork sausage links, or patties of seasoned round steak. Make toast, trimming crusts. On each slice of toast place a hot broiled apple slice, then two links of sausage, or a meat patty. Top with a slice of cheese. Place under low broiler heat, or in a 350 degree oven until cheese is melted. Serve at once.

Cream Lettuce Soup
Dice two medium-sized onions and one stalk of celery and braise in a covered saucepan with one tablespoon butter for about ten minutes. Slowly work in one tablespoon flour, stirring until smooth and cook a few minutes longer. Next add two quarts of boiling stock. If no stock is available, dissolve two or three bouillon cubes and add other vegetable juices on hand. Beat until smooth and add two heads of shredded lettuce, cooking slowly for about 45 minutes. Strain through a sieve and season to taste.

In the meantime have a head of lettuce shredded as finely as possible, place in a saucepan, add a good fat stock to barely cover the lettuce and braise while covered up for fifteen minutes. (Butter may be used, or part butter and stock.) Add this mixture to strained soup, just before serving.

Maple Sugar Frosting
One pound maple sugar, one-half cup boiling water, whites of two eggs. Break maple sugar into small pieces; add to boiling water, stirring occasionally until sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring, until syrup will thread when dropped from tip of spoon. Remove from fire. Pour gradually on beaten egg whites beating steadily until thick.

Maple Ginger Snaps
Two cups crumbled maple sugar, one cup sour cream, one teaspoon soda, one cup shortening, two eggs, one tablespoon ginger, pinch salt, flour to make a stiff batter. Roll thin and bake quickly. These scorch easily.

The War Today—

in the government so long as they have Chamberlain on the run.

Whatever may be in store for Chamberlain—a grand old man, though terribly fixed and obstinate when once his mind is made up—there can be only one response to the public demand for action, and that is action. From that viewpoint the upheaval undoubtedly is a blessing, even though some heads must roll.

Incidentally, if an interpolation is permitted, this manhandling of the government is an excellent example of the difference between the parliamentary form of government and the absolute dictatorship.

There is small doubt that Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, saved his chief from a cold knockout by accepting "full responsibility" for the failure to employ a naval fleet for the capture of Trondheim.

Churchill, once one of Chamberlain's severest critics, downed the old school tie and "played cricket." England will think more of him for this display of loyalty.

Still, Churchill's defense—which seemed to me to be more like an excuse—lacked the punch with which this great orator and debater generally endows his speeches.

The conduct of the Norwegian campaign was so utterly unlike Churchill, and so much in accordance with Chamberlain's die-hard adherence to his policies, that I cannot help feeling the responsibility really belongs to the prime minister, whose decision in all matters is final so far as concerns his cabinet.

As I have remarked before, I believe that if Churchill is given free hand in conduct of the war, Britain will get the initiative she demands.

The most important point made by Churchill in his defense was that Germany's numerical superiority in airplanes caused the Norwegian setback.

That seems to me to be wholly unsatisfactory as an explanation of the failure in Norway, but it certainly does point to a vital allied weakness. Churchill's statement undoubtedly will have the result of redoubling the Anglo-French efforts to reach parity with the nazis in the air.

W. C. T. U. Notes

W. C. T. U.—Members of the W. C. T. U. were entertained at the home of Mrs. Floyd L. Blewfield, Tuesday afternoon. The program on Temperance and Missions was prepared by Mrs. C. P. Tibbets, state director of that department. Mrs. Guy S. Davis, at one time a field worker in home missions, by use of an object lesson, presented facts about the small amounts of money spent in our country for schools, churches, teachers, missionaries and other constructive forces for good as compared with the much larger amounts spent for chewing gum, tobacco and liquor. Her devotional theme was "We See Jesus". Mrs. Herbert J. Doran played two piano numbers, "To Spring" by Greig and "Romance" by Sibelius. The following numbers were given by the young people: Reading, "The Birds' Beverage"—Rosemary McClain; song, "Live All the Day With Jesus," Shirley and Barbara Donoho; reading, "Faces," Shirley Donoho; "Lives of Light," a candle lighting exercise. The exercise showed how the "Light Lines" are carried by W. C. T. U. missionaries to 21 foreign countries. Those taking part were Mesdames Hill, Busby, Chronister, Winebrenner and Miss Seals. After singing "Keep the Light Lines Burning" Mrs. Tibbets told how Frances Willard got her inspiration to carry the W. C. T. U. work to the women in other countries around the world. Mrs. L. B. Neighbour told how the work is conducted in China, the first foreign country to which it was carried. Miss Calla Morgan read the Polyglot Petition, written by Frances Willard in 1884, which had 7,000,000 signatures in 50 languages, and is now mounted in the W. C. T. U. headquarters in Evanston, Ill. The meeting closed with prayers. Words of appreciation were expressed to the mayor and city officials for the removal of the W. C. T. U. drinking fountain to its present location.

"Now that's what I call good coffee"

HILLS BROS. COFFEE PLEASES the most critical taste. Because of this it is the favorite brand of millions of women who take pride in making coffee.

The Correct Grind is guaranteed to give best results by any method of coffee-making if directions are followed. Hills Bros. Coffee should never be reground. Regrinding results in a loss of flavor and aroma and the coffee loses freshness faster.

IMPORTANT: Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired. Keep coffee-maker clean.

PERCOLATOR: Start with cold or hot water. Percolate slowly 7 to 10 minutes after steady pumping starts.

COFFEEPOT: Bring coffee and water to boiling. Stir well. Remove from fire. Add small amount of cold water and let stand 5 minutes to settle grounds.

DRIIP METHOD: 6 to 8 minutes preferred. If less than 2/3 capacity is made, water will drip too fast giving weak brew.

SLEEPING: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well and cover. Strain again in 5 minutes. Cover and steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

GLASS VACUUM-MAKERS: Put paper bowl on after water boils. The coffee and water should be in contact 5 to 7 minutes.

ON THE SIDE OF EVERY CAN are directions for obtaining best results by any method of coffee-making. Write Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., San Francisco for a free copy of "The Art of Coffee-Making."

PEGLER TELLS HOW SCALISE GOT MANSION

Charges Labor Leader Receiving Huge Salary From Rank and File

Westbrook Pegler, noted newspaper writer, recently published an interesting account of the methods by which George Scalise, a Brooklyn labor racketeer, acquired a mansion of 27 rooms on the shores of Lake Mamansco, Conn., a region favored by rich refugees from the New York state income tax. Scalise, at the head of a large union which collects its funds from scrub women, chamber maids, street cleaners, janitors, does no physical work and never has, but draws a salary of $20,000 a year and an unlimited expense account from a fund of $400,000 a year.

With his labor union activities and other enterprises in which he is connected, Scalise has a reputed income of over $100,000 a year. On this income he has failed to pay income tax and has recently been indicted by a federal grand jury.

Scalise, before becoming the bargaining agent for the labor union, was the bargaining agent for prostitutes on which charge he was convicted and served four and one-half years in the penitentiary. Friday Scalise resigned his position as president of the labor union and is now preparing for trial. He has employed six attorneys to defend him.

Pegler, in telling about the 27-room mansion of the labor leader, says:

Mr. Scalise is now refitting the place for occupancy, and two servants, or caretakers, are in residence, while tree surgeons leap from bough to bough amid the maples, oaks and beeches, amputating limbs which were damaged in the great sleet storm of six weeks ago. Plumbers and masons also are on the job, and to date Mr. Scalise has spent about $7,000 on rehabilitation of his country estate. He pays cash and is regarded as an excellent client.

About two weeks ago, William Green, the president of the American Federation of Labor, in defending his colleague in the service of labor with a capital L, advised the public that Mr. Scalise lived modestly in a humble cottage in Brooklyn. That appears to be correct although Mr. Scalise need not live modestly, for he and his fellow officers of the union voted him a salary of $20,000 a year, plus an unlimited expense account out of the union treasury, which has an income of $420,000 a year, according to his own figures.

A remarkable proportion of Mr. Scalise's fellow officers of the union have criminal records, and he reached the presidency by private arrangement with the officers and without any vote, direct or indirect, of the rank-and-file chambermaids, charwomen, window cleaners, janitors and other toilers.

Mr. Green was probably sincere in his mention of the cottage, for Scalise has taken pains to disguise the fact that he has bought the mansion. It was bought in the name of Anna Scalise on Sept. 22, 1939, and sold by her to the Felice Holding Company, a Connecticut corporation, on Nov. 9. One union colleague of Mr. Scalise says that Anna Scalise is the wife of the union president, but another insists that Anna Scalise who bought and sold the property is the daughter. The relationship does not appear in the documents on file in the town hall at Ridgefield.

There are three stockholders in the Felice Holding Company—George and Anthony Scalise, who own one share each, and Harry A. Rose, who owns 248 shares. However, George is president and treasurer, and Anthony is secretary, and Rose holds no office and appears to be a dummy.

An authority intimate with the affairs of the Felice Holding Company says unqualifiedly that Rose owns no part of the property. Rose has been described as an international representative of the union, an office of wide powers, by some informants in the labor racket. He was active on behalf of the union in Miami Beach during the winter when this group found itself in a conflict of jurisdiction with a bartenders and waiters racket of the A. F. of L. controlled by Danny Coughlin, a brother-in-law of Al Capone and guard at the Capone estate.

Rose himself, however, insists that he holds no office in the union and that, in the matter of Villa Scalise at Ridgefield, Conn., he is merely an agent and contractor.

An operator in the labor racket who is qualified to speak from inside knowledge said that Scalise felt that he was getting to be a big man in labor affairs and wanted a nice place because of his standing "and all that", but thought it wise to hold the property in the name of the holding company, "because he didn't want anyone to know he had all that money."

The mansion was built about 35 years ago by Courtland Dixon, a rich New Yorker, and contains a living room 45 feet by 35, a reception room, library, dining room, den, kitchen, butler's pantry, servants' dining room, butler's bedroom and bath, laundry and chill room, on the ground floor. Also on the ground floor are a large enclosed tiled, heated porch with a huge fireplace, and two powder rooms. There are ten master bedrooms, with five baths, and five servants' rooms with two baths, on the second and third floors.

There is a seven-car garage with steam-heated quarters for the chauffeur and family, and hovering over all is a mortgage of $12,500. The purchase price was $22,500 marked down from $150,000.

Even the Wealthy Families of Dixon Switching to Modern Economies in Food Purchases

'Knowing Value of Dollar' Not Limited to Mothers Who Save From Necessity . . . Comfortably Fixed Housewives Good Managers, Too

Wide Choice, Speed, Quality, Easy Selection Are Factors

Dollar Spent for Food in New A&P Super Markets Pays for More Food and Less "In-Between" Expense Than Ever Before in Retail History.

There's probably no place in Dixon these days where you'll see such a complete "cross section" of the city's families as in the new A&P Super Markets.

Five shoppers in a row, the other day, in one of the Big A&P stores, included a smartly dressed young mother whose six-year-old "future president" was having a lot of fun pushing the rubber tired shopping basket; an elderly and rather feeble old gentleman with a food order from the local relief headquarters; a middle-aged, obviously wealthy woman with a bundle-laden chauffeur bringing her to the rear; a farmer and his wife whose extensive purchases of staples indicated they'd driven in for a month's supply; and the bride of a certain young fellow who probably will soon be getting his wages raised if our guess is good.

A supervisor whose job it is to know just what pleases and displeases A&P customers quotes a few of their remarks.

"I like to show my husband that I can run my home as efficiently as he can run his business," was the young mother's rather surprising statement. "He's done well because he's practiced wise economy and it wouldn't be fair for me to offset them by not being just as careful at the house. We find we can save up to 10 per cent at A&P Super Markets . . . as much as 25% on some items. We learned a long time ago that what we save on the necessities of life buys the other things we really want."

Lessons to Children There are perhaps a lot of people who haven't thought of things in exactly the same terms expressed by the lady with the chauffeur. "There are four young people in our family," she said, "and aside from getting a great deal of satisfaction myself from wise buying, I consider it only right to set a proper example for them. We keep books at our house for their benefit. Spending money wisely is just as important as earning it. Beside that, I'm a little old fashioned. I like to select the foods for my own table. The wider selection in the super markets, the dispatch with which I can come in here and get what I want and get out, make it a pleasant and exciting experience to shop here."

The bride and her husband had talked out the whole matter of household buying right at the start. The young bride was right when he warned his one and only not to depend upon "week-end specials" to balance her budget. It wasn't difficult for either of them to figure out that if an old-fashioned grocer cuts his price to below cost on one item for the purpose of bringing customers into store, he has to mark up other items to make his legitimate profit. So she buys everything at the A&P super market and finds she comes out a long way ahead in the end.

Farmer Has Two Reasons "Of course our first and foremost reason for coming here is the savings we make," was the farmer's remark. "But another very important reason is that we like the A&P way of doing business with the producer. It doesn't take an economist to figure out that when food is made available to the consumer without a lot of middleman's expenses and profits tacked on the consumer can buy more of what we farmers raise and grow. Consumption is the one big answer to our problem." Like most farmers these days, he showed that his thinking reached well beyond the farm, for he went on to say that farmers' problems were city problems, too, because it's only when farmers have money that there's prosperity in the nation.

It's true that aside from being a most satisfactory place in which to shop for foods, A&P Super Markets are able to bring greater savings to American families than have ever before been possible in their history: to sell fine foods at a lower average gross profit. These exciting new stores are the culmination of 80 years' experience in taking the "frills" out of the food business, knowing how and where to cut corners and distribution without cutting corners in the quality of merchandise.

"Waste Conscious" In reply to a recent observation of another business man, that the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company was an "expense conscious" organization, an A&P executive replied: "No, we're not 'expense conscious,' we're 'waste conscious.' We'll go to any expense in our factories to improve the quality of the foods we pack or manufacture, or to improve the efficiency of our distributive system. We pay unusually high wages for the grocery business because we know it means greater efficiency in serving our customers. But we do not believe in waste. We believe that unnecessary handling costs between the producer and consumer are waste. Therefore, we have eliminated many middlemen from our operations. We buy direct and sell direct which is the biggest savings we offer. We know that charge accounts cause waste, because not only do many people buy more than they need when they can say 'charge it' but others who are more careful have to help pay the losses sustained when 'charge accounts' are not collected in full. We have eliminated other trimmings in these super markets because we believe people want to pay for good food, rather than for unnecessary selling costs. A&P prices are low because they represent quality foods with waste eliminated."

A sensible attitude toward economy is fairly becoming more general in all income groups as they become acquainted with this new kind of grocery store, whether they ride to the store in 1940 Cadillacs or 1930 Fords.

WHY ARE A & P PRICES SO LOW? STEP BACK STAGE—AND SEE WHY!

Backstage of your A&P is the whole United States. Yes, our buyers search every corner of the land for great quantities of fine foods and ship them direct to A&P. There they are carefully stocked for your selection. And this is all done at the least possible cost. The A&P Parade of Values is the best show in town! See it today.

the committee next Wednesday with Smith's "little black book" and all records pertaining to contributions from contractors doing business with the state of Illinois which he (Cassidy) has in his possession".

Chief Engineer Lieberman, Smith's chief aide on highway matters during four years as state public works director, was subpoenaed to appear Tuesday with "reports of your investigations of collusive pavement bids, labor racketeering, and other influences increasing the cost of highways to the taxpayers".

Smith, once Horner's principal political adviser and chief controller of the party campaign fund, was found dead March 9 in a water-filled hospital bathtub in Springfield. A coroner's jury decided he committed suicide "while mentally deranged".

Cassidy Investigated
Cassidy's connection with Smith's records resulted from a state inheritance tax investigation which was started shortly after the public works director died. Cassidy sent agents to investigate Smith's private papers and reported that bookkeeping entries disclosed that the Democratic leader has deposited $22,000 in party campaign funds in his Pontiac lumber business bank account in 1936.

The attorney general reported $17,381.10 was still listed as a debt to the "Democratic party". No one has yet filed a claim for the amount against Smith's estate.

Rep. Joseph Sam Perry of Wheaton, staunch Horner administration backer who objected in an earlier hearing to questions directed at State Finance Director S. L. Nudelman about "slush fund" collections, said in a statement Lieberman and Cassidy "do not need to produce records concerning campaign funds".

"I will fight any attempt," he added "to cite them for contempt for failure to do so until the Republicans have made a clean breast of the source of $500,000 contributed to Dwight H. Green for campaign purposes during the past year". Green is the Republican nominee for governor.

Perry said the resolution creating the committee "gave no power to investigate campaign funds".

Searle indicated he wanted to question the attorney general to ascertain if he had discovered any other records in Smith's safe.

Interested in Bonds Sales
The subpoena for Engineer Lieberman disclosed the investigating committee also was interested in sales of bonds to road contractors, bids for calcium chloride purchases and payrolls.

Lieberman was directed to produce:

"All such books, statements and records as he may have in his custody and control as chief highway engineer of the state of Illinois relating to the following: Report or records of insurance agents selling bonds to road contractors; and, bids for calcium chloride purchases 1937, '38 and '39; and, contracts or record of contracts on purchases of pavement expansion joints 1932 to '40; and, intra-departmental reports of source of materials used by highway contractors; and department record of your approving 28 Cook county road projects in April 1938 for approximately $2,185,000 and department record of final award of contracts for these projects for approximately $472,000 less; and, daily word sheets, assignments of individuals, of Illinois state highway police from Jan. 1 to May 1, 1940; and, reports of your investigations of collusive pavement bids, labor racketeering, and other influences increasing the cost of highways to the taxpayers; and to hold available subject to call records of all payrolls of the division of highways from and since Jan. 1, 1936".

Searle charged in a statement that Senator Harold G. Ward of Chicago Democratic floor leader in the Senate, was "attempting to kill or cripple the committee" by proposing reduction of House con-

Ward put through amendments to legislative appropriation bills in the Senate that would cut House expense appropriations from $7,000 to $2,000 and Senate expense appropriations from $3,000 to $1,000.

Mayer Will Not Seek Re-election to Board

Chicago, May 9.—(AP)—Because of the "pressure of personal business", Oscar G. Mayer, Chicago meat packer, does not plan to seek reelection as a member of the University of Illinois' board of trustees.

Mayer, a Democrat, was elected to the six year term as trustee in the 1934 election.

"The pressure of personal business makes it impossible for me to seek reelection", Mayer said last night. "I have greatly enjoyed the experience of serving on the board and consider it a fine opportunity to render a public service".

Also expiring this year are the terms of two other Democratic members of the nine man board. Harold A. Pogue of Decatur, has announced he would seek reelection, while the third member, Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb of Chicago, has not announced her intention.

From 1935 through 1939, engineers and geologists found and developed new oil reserves amounting to more than 12 billion barrels.

No One Greatly Worried About Plight of New York Yankees

THINGS LOOK UP FOR BLADES' MEN AFTER BAD START

Cardinals Commencing to Show Spark of Old Gas House Gang

By HENRY B. JAMESON
St. Louis, May 9—(AP)—Things are finally looking up for the disappointing Cardinals.

With a bench full of cripples and a lineup far below par, they kicked the daylight out of their last two rivals and even the most outspoken critics admit the old Gas House Gang seldom looked better.

One of the victories was over the sizzling Brooklyn Dodgers by the ridiculous score of 18 to 2 and the other was yesterday's 7 to 4 win over the Phillies.

It's about time they were showing some spark. Rumors were sprouting that Manager Ray (Jugger) Blades, who became a sensation his first year—1939—in the big show, had pushed his luck too far and might get the gate if he failed to have his pre-season favorites in a contending position by July 4.

Hailed as Tactician
Blades was hailed as the greatest tactician in baseball last year. He juggled his pitchers like hot potatoes and kept the fans in a constant state of near apoplexy.

At the beginning of this season the Redbirds were such heavy favorites it was even suggested they be turned loose against the Yankees—some joke now—right away to settle the world series issue.

By this week they were floundering in last place and being headlined as the "flop-eroo of the year." The sidelines began grumbling; was Blades smart or just lucky?

As J. Roy Stockton of the Post-Dispatch so aptly put it, baseball fans are just like poker chips—always around a winner. And so they set out to smear the "group-pitching" system Blades used so successfully last year.

Uses Pitchers Freely
Roughly, the Blades plan is to withdraw a pitcher whenever the enemy threatens or whenever opportunity offers for the Cards to score a flock of runs.

Thus far, Ray has used on an average of three pitchers a day and Bill McGee and Lon Warneke are the only hurlers who have gone the full nine-inning route this season.

To critics who blame him for "misleading" his pitchers, Ray calmly replies:

"I think our pitching staff is going to be even better than last year, partly as a result of the way I handled them last year."

Nelson Cardinals Win From Sterling Outfit

The Nelson Cardinals scored a 3 to 2 win over a newly organized team from Sterling in a game played at the Nelson field Sunday. Both teams played a tight defensive game, making but three hits apiece. Gallentine tripled for Sterling while J. Bohlken's double led the hitting honors for Nelson. Next Sunday the Cardinals are scheduled to meet the Sterling Monarchs at Nelson. The score by innings:

Murchison Thinks 9.2 Sprint Record Stands

Miami, Fla., May 9—(AP)—Loren Murchison, a rival of Charles Paddock in an era of great sprinters, predicted that no man ever would run 100 yards faster than the present record of 9.2 seconds.

"A nine-second hundred? No, I'm afraid not," said Murchison, who won 26 national sprint championships, ran in two Olympics and gave Paddock many an exciting race when "The Fastest Human" was burning up the track.

"I believe the record is down to rock bottom now. That's one reason interest has waned in the short races. Jesse Owens, holder of the record, was the last of the great sprinters."

Murchison's career ended in 1928, when he was stricken by cerebral meningitis. A cyst was removed from his spine four years ago, and he walks now with the aid of two canes.

Amboy Tracksters to Go to State Meet Saturday

Amboy Central grade school heavyweight tracksters won second place in the state sectional meet held in El Paso April 30 and, as a result of their performance in the meet, Ringenberg, Haws, Fortney and Berry will go to the state meet in Lincoln this Saturday. The Amboy lightweights placed fourth in the sectional and Chandler and Berkeley won the right to go to the state meet.

SLUMP OF WORLD CHAMPIONS MOST AMAZING TO FANS

However, All Seem to Expect Them to Get Going Shortly

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The world champion New York Yankees are in last place in the American league today and perhaps the most amazing aspect of their strange situation is the complacency with which everyone is accepting their slump.

The season already has been a grab bag of many surprises, but none of them compares in portent with the break-down of the wonder team of baseball.

The same club that won four consecutive American league and world championships is out there floundering like a fish out of water, losing 11 out of its first 17 games, five in a row and nine to left handed pitchers.

Take 10-4 Beating
The Yanks were whipped unmercifully 10-4 yesterday by the Cleveland Indians, who started southpaw Al Smith against them and backed him up with a 14-hit attack that included two home runs by Hal Trosky and one by Rollie Hemsey.

Smith is a castoff of the New York Giants who pitched for Buffalo in the International league last year.

The same day a New York paper printed a cartoon showing a manager tapping a lefthanded street sweeper on the shoulder and saying, "Lefthanded, huh? You're going to pitch against the Yankees tomorrow."

Yet there isn't a manager who doesn't believe the Yanks will rise again to haunt them and Joe McCarthy keeps letting his starting pitchers go five, six, seven innings in the face of heavy hitting, still waiting confidently for one of those old time big innings that will erase everything.

Fans Are Stunned
The fans are so stunned they don't know whether to believe their eyes. It may be just as well, because those Yanks have made hasty appraisals bounce before. Joe DiMaggio had a perfect day at bat yesterday and Joe Gordon hit a homer with two on in the eighth.

They were due to get a look at right-handed pitching today — if Bobby Feller's fireball isn't too sizzling to look upon—and even though they're in eighth place they're only six and one-half games behind the leaders. Prudence may still be the best policy.

The Boston Red Sox kept on top of the pile yesterday, squeezing past the Detroit Tigers 5-4 by bouncing five hits for four runs in the fourth, and dropping Detroit back into third place, behind the Indians.

Standings Shifted
There was some other shuffling in the standings. The Philadelphia A's outslugged the St. Louis Browns 10-8, with Benny McCoy getting four hits, to take over fourth place and the Chicago White Sox climbed out of the cellar with a 6-3 decision over Washington on the five hit hurling of Ed Smith and Clint Brown.

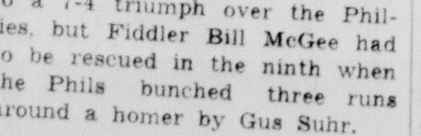

Brooklyn's national league leaders were rained out at Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds were blocked out of a chance to move into a virtual tie when the surging Boston Bees pounded Paul Derringer off the mound and won 10-4. The Bees, who lost their first six straight but since have won six out of eight, clustered four runs in the first inning and five in the fifth.

The New York Giants plastered 17 hits against the Pirates for a 10-6 victory that not only ran Pittsburgh's string of defeats to eight but broke the Teymen's own losing streak at four.

Stu Martin hit two home runs to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-4 triumph over the Phillies, but Fiddler Bill McGee had to be rescued in the ninth when the Phils bunched three runs around a homer by Gus Suhr.

PICKING the "500" WINNER

WILBUR SHAW

Indianapolis, Ind.—The defending champion is usually a favorite in any sport. I think that Wilbur Shaw, winner of the 500-mile race in 1939 and 1937, has an excellent chance to score his "triple" in the speed classic. May 30th, at Indianapolis, Wilbur has three at-bats—he's spectacular, speedy and shrewd. He'll drive the Italian Maserati straight-eight which won for him last year, and he's certain to have thousands rooting for him to repeat. Shaw trains hard for the "500". He shoots in the low seventies in golf, is an expert horseman, a crack marksman with pistol or rifle and pilots his own plane. Behind the wheel of a race car, he's a top-notch. He's been racing at Indianapolis since 1927, and is at his peak this year.

Only About Ten Horses to Start Preakness Event

Baltimore, May 9—(AP)—The "Get Gallahadion and Beat Bimelech" club appeared to have lost a few members today—so only about ten horses are likely to go to the post in the Preakness stakes at Pimlico Saturday.

The "G. G. & B. B." club is composed of three-year-old colts spoiling for a crack at the Kentucky Derby winner and runners-up. Requisites for membership are faith, hope and charity—the latter meaning a willingness to give Gallahadion and Bimelech a run for the money.

Half a dozen Preakness possibilities have fallen by the wayside at Pimlico this week and others that had been expected to go have not yet reported.

Ready to accept the issue are five horses that suffered defeat in the Derby and a small group that didn't run in the Kentucky classic.

Considered Starters

Here are those considered definite Preakness starters:
Mrs. Ethel V. Marx' Gallahadion, Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, Arnold Hanger's Dit, C. S. Howard's Miodand, Tower Stable's Royal Man, W. L. Brann's Pictor, Milledale Stable's Andy K, Mrs. George D. Widener's Your Chance.

Mrs. E. G. Lewis' Jacomar. That's nine. The other starter—or starters—probably will come from this group:

Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Snow Ridge, Mrs. Anthony Pelletier's Sun Pharos John Hay Whitney's Wolf, W. J. W. Y. Martin's Abrasion and R. A. Firestone's Marogay.

Rizzo Hopes for Good Luck With Cincinnati

Pittsburgh, May 9—(AP)—Johnny Rizzo, swapped by the Pirates for Vince DiMaggio of the Cincinnati Reds, was off to his new team today with the hope he will turn over a new leaf.

Heading for Cincinnati, Rizzo said he just "couldn't get going after the season opened" and expressed confidence "the change will do me some good."

In 1938, when he came to the Pirates, the outfielder hit 23 home runs, a record for the Bucs. He ran into hard luck last year, however, batting .261, and couldn't get out of the slump this spring.

Bill Benswanger, president of the Pirates, spiked speculation there might be more in the Rizzos-for-DiMaggio trade yesterday than the straight player exchange.

"We made the deal with the idea of getting DiMaggio," he said. "We believe that he will help our club and do not intend to trade him to someone else, at least at the present time."

FOREIGNERS ARE NAMED TO RACE IN INDIANAPOLIS

Two Frenchmen, Italian, South American Are Among Drivers

Indianapolis, May 9—(AP)—Two Frenchmen and an Italian, now living in France, were nominated today as drivers of the pair of Maseratis entered in the Indianapolis motor speedway 500-mile automobile race May 30 by Mrs. Lucy O'Reilly Schell, former woman race driver.

Mrs. Schell is an American resident of France and is the widow of Laury Schell, who participated for many years in European grand prix racing.

Bernard Musnik, Mrs. Schell's American representative, notified speedway officials that Rene Dreyfus, Rene LeBeque and Luigi Chinetti would arrive in this country about May 23 to drive the cars. Chinetti will serve as relief pilot.

Musnik said he "presumed" Dreyfus and LeBeque had been granted temporary releases from French military forces in order to race here. When the cars were entered Mrs. Schell sent word she was negotiating for the release from the army of the two French drivers.

All Are Veterans

All three drivers are veterans of European racing. Dreyfus was the No. 1 man of the Schell team in the German grand prix. Last year LeBeque finished third in the grand prix of France at Reims. Dreyfus was seventh and Chinetti eighth.

If the three arrive here May 23 they will have only a week to prepare for the race. Those preparations must include a driving test on the Indianapolis track.

Another foreign entry in the race is Raul Riganti of South America, who made his first practice run at the track yesterday. He also will drive a Maserati.

There have been no foreign drivers at Indianapolis since 1933 and no foreign driver has won since 1916 when Dario Resta took down the top prize. Jules Goux and Rene Thomas of France won the classic in the years before the World war.
